

Meet the species workshops

Grey bushcricket male © K Vahed

Great green bushcricket male © K Vahed

Join the Life on the Edge team and Buglife's Professor Karim Vahed for a brief whistle-stop tour of the South West's Orthoptera (crickets, bushcrickets and grasshoppers) This includes two of our target species

Workshop one – online : South West Orthoptera webinar

Monday 9th September 2024 6 pm - 7:30 pm, on Zoom

This online webinar will provide an introduction to Orthoptera and will cover their habitat, habits, and how to identify them, including covering several apps that volunteers can use to help them in identifying then recording their sightings. This workshop will be open to returning volunteers and absolute beginners.

Workshop two – field visit : Wembury Orthoptera hunt

Sunday 15th Sept, 1 pm – 4pm, meet at Wembury beach car park (Nat. Trust charges apply)

This workshop will provide a chance to develop Orthoptera ID skills! During the session, we hope to find as many different species of Orthoptera as we can to identify, with fingers crossed for some late Grey Bushcrickets and for the Great Green Bushcricket, whilst finding out more about managing habitat for their conservation. This workshop is aimed at people with some field survey experience that are interested in on-going recording.

To book your free place email lote@southdevon-nl.org.uk

www.southdevon-nl.org.uk

South Devon
National Landscape